Sultan Food Philosophy

Respect Labor

Sultan is a no tipping restaurant. We pay all our employees a living wage and provide paid sick time, vacation, and holidays. We believe if somebody is working full time, they should be able to afford to live. The hospitality industry is known for its exploitation of labor, and tipping is a practice rooted in racism and classism. These are not legacies we want to support.

Respect Mother Nature

All our proteins are antibiotic/hormone free, humanely raised, and from Wisconsin farms. We make sure all our seafood is from sources that are farmed or caught sustainably. Factory farming is one of the most significant ecological and national security threats in this country, so we make it a point to support local and regional agricultural supply chains, and our dishes are designed to showcase the wonderful ingredients we source.

Be Different

Sultan is a sanctuary from the ordinary. We want to bring the flavors of the subcontinent to you in a more elevated, nutritious, and cosmopolitan way. Everything from our small plates style service to our labor practices is designed to showcase our commitment to doing things differently.
